Selva Verde Lodge
March 9, 2010

Selva Verde Lodge located Sarapiquí Costa Rica is the focus of the latest episode of Birding Adventures TV. Watch as Birding Adventure TV host James Currie goes in search of the highly endangered Great Green Macaw and in the process captures almost unheard of footage of an active Sunbittern nest with two baby chicks. Birding Adventures TV shares the excitement and adventure of Selva Verde Lodge and the Sarapiquí region of Costa Rica. The episode will air for the first time on March 18th. Check here for a complete listing of times.

Birding Adventures TV (BATV) is the first birding TV program that focuses on destination and adventure bird-watching. It explores the exotic birding destinations on the planet; the most unusual, rare and highly sought after bird species; amazing cultures and wildlife. BATV portrays a unique blend of information and adventure, making bird-watching refreshing, contemporary, interesting and exciting.

Andrea Holbrook, of the family that owns and operates Selva Verde Lodge, had this to say about the filming:

“We were so excited to have BATV film in Sarapiquí and Selva Verde Lodge. I love to see the story of the Green Macaw told since it is such a beautiful and endangered bird that has come to mean a lot to the people of Sarapiquí. Also, I was excited for us to be a part of this new movement of birding as a sport or adventure activity. That’s important so that a younger audience can be enticed to watch birds. And I was very proud to be joined by the community members such as Aventuras de Sarapiquí in sponsoring the show. Collaborating with the Costa Rica Bird Route and naturalist and conservationist Alexander Ramirez was also rewarding.”
